Choreographers and Guest Artists

Vivien Fergusson (3rd Year, Cognitive Science & French, Dance Minor) moths explores the hedonistic tendencies of human desire and our consequential susceptibility to lust after an ideal that, in truth, may not be worthy of such effort. The piece hopes to inquire after the sources of true fulfillment; perhaps our communal quest for beauty need not be as destructive as a moth consumed by its flame.

Dinah Gray Originally from Los Angeles, Dinah Gray began her dance training at Yvonne Cusack Ballet Center. She is a graduate of Virginia School of the Arts and holds a B.A. in Dance Performance and Choreography from Goucher College and an M.F.A. in Creative Writing from Columbia University. She has danced with Ballet Theatre of Maryland, The Baltimore Opera, Off Center Dance Theater, Concordance Contemporary, and Prospect Dance Group, where she also served as a founder and director. She is a Lecturer in Dance at UVA and an artistic associate at Charlottesville Ballet, and choreographs and performs in the Charlottesville area. Recent choreographic credits include Wonderful Town (UVA Drama), Bright Days of Little Sunlight (Charlottesville Ballet), Bloody Bloody Andrew Jackson (UVA Drama), and NO WAKE (The Bridge P.A.I.). Aperture is a music-driven piece that considers the effects of external forces on an individual’s attitude and performance.

Julia Ruth Holland (4th Year, Drama, Dance Minor) Navigate, Fall 2015 Experimental Dance Concert; Mr. Burns, a post-electric play, (UVA Drama).

“In the end all collaborations are love stories.” -- Twyla Tharp. I created this piece from physical memories. A hand on my back, a chance meeting, a play at proximity...I was thinking about evolution, about life “after the crater.”

Kim Brooks Mata is a dance artist, educator, and collaborator. Currently serving as the Head and Artistic Director of the Dance Program at the University of Virginia (UVA) and on faculty in the Integrated Movement Studies Certification program, Kim studied dance at The Rotterdam Dance Academy (now Codarts) in the Netherlands and at the University of Utah where she received her M.F.A. in Modern Dance. Her work has been presented in Kentucky, Utah, California, Illinois, North Carolina, Maryland, and Virginia. As a Registered Somatic Movement Educator and certified Laban/Bartenieff Movement Analyst (CLMA) her teaching, choreography, and performance coaching all rely heavily on her background in somatics. At UVA, Kim teaches all levels of Modern/Contemporary technique, Improvisation, Composition, the Art of Dance, Dance for the Camera, and Laban/Bartenieff Movement Analysis. Common themes found in her teaching and creative work focus on the exploration of identity, relationality, the mediated body, and expressions of community through dance performance and choreography. Content explores aspects of community in relation to navigating commonalities and differences while maintaining a sense of individual selfhood.

Jessie Laurita-Spanglet joined the faculty of the Wake Forest University Department of Theatre and Dance in the fall of 2015. After graduating with an MFA from the University of Maryland, College Park in 2014, Jessie spent the following fall as Artist-in-Residence at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. Along with fellow local dancers, Jessie is an organizing artist for On Site/In Sight, an annual three-day dance festival that animates sites in downtown Winston-Salem, NC. Believing that many diverse voices are stronger than one, Jessie has collaborated closely with dance and theatre artists, musicians, composers, and writers. Jessie is a Stott Pilates teacher with a certificate from the Balance Pilates Training Center in Richmond, VA, and holds a BFA from the University of North Carolina School of the Arts. In the Rift explores and amplifies forgotten or overlooked moments of inbetweenness. Originally created in silence, the arc of the work sweeps, falls, and subtly shifts its way through a musical landscape of layered violin. This piece was created in collaboration with composer/musician David Schulman.

Brad Stoller has been teaching Contact Improvisation nationally and internationally for 33 years and at UVA for the past six. In this concert his interest has been in investigating the quality of touch where the central axis moves another dancer, where the quality of sound and music evokes a weighty melancholic expansiveness. Brad is a graduate of the UVA Drama M.F.A. program and is an Associate Professor at Piedmont Virginia Community College where he directs the theatre program.

Semora Ward (4th Year, Psychology, Dance Minor) Head Choreographer for Black Monologues 2016 (UVA Drama); Inspired by Quentin Tarantino’s 1994 film Pulp Fiction my piece, 7:22 am seeks to explore the relationship between lurid subject matter and thoughtful marrow. Seeking to articulate the fragility of life, the piece uses choice and chance to navigate the limits of free will and fate.

Hannah Woodruff (4th Year, Systems Engineering, Dance Minor) In that moment, It stood., Fall 2015 Dance Concert (UVA Drama). In my piece, Cafuné, I explore the idea of breaking off from what is familiar, embracing the call of the void. I challenged my dancers to generate and manipulate movement and concepts, encouraging them to seek out and commit to each phrase and relationship in volume, making it a work of their own.

Musicians/Composers

Mecca Burns, BCT, M.A., has composed this score based on the quality of movement evoked from wind/storm, ocean and the song Losing My Religion by R.E.M. Mecca recently was the music director for The Tempest, Much Ado About Nothing, and two previous UVA dance concert pieces. Mecca is a Registered Drama Therapist and Board Certified Drama Therapy Trainer. She cofounded Presence Center for Applied Theatre Arts in Charlottesville, Virginia.

David Schulman (Musician & Composer) By turns nocturnal, reflective, funky, and cinematic, the music of electric violinist and composer David Schulman has been called “mysterious and beautiful” by the Washington Post. Selections from David’s 2012 album, “Quiet Life Motel,” have been heard nationally on NPR and are frequently licensed by choreographers. An avid dance collaborator, David has created original scores for PearsonWidrig Dance Theater, Dance Exchange, Jessie Laurita-Spanglet, Christopher K. Morgan & Artists, and Stephanie Miracle. He’s performed at venues including The Kennedy Center and The Paul Taylor Studios. David’s new album “Anhinga” (Nov. 2016) features several pieces that first came to life as music for dance. His music can be found at quietlifemotel.com
